Academy Notes.

School will be closed Thursday and Friday of this week on account of teachers' convention at Newport. Books in the school are being rearranged by four senior girls: The Misses Mildred and Florence Longwin, Nellie Pudvah and Mildred Ford.

We wish to correct a mistake made in last week's paper in connection with the Girls' Sewing club. Demonstrations were given in darning rather than in dancing.

At the first practice of the Girls' basketball team last Wednesday night, eleven girls were present. Two teams were chosen and practice games were played. Practice this week will consist mostly in passing and shooting baskets.

School is once more running smoothly after being short of teachers because of Miss Storrs' illness. Mr. Burnham has already found a place among the students and is helping out in many ways besides teaching. Each morning he conducts the chapel service and the Junior play, start the drilling of the Junior play.

Basket Ball

On Wednesday, January 19th, B. A. basketball quintet journeyed to Castabury where they were beaten 42 to 12 in a fast game which did not appear as one-sided as the score would indicate. Craftsbury, however, put up a fast passing game, Griggs and Moody starting.

Tuesday, January 25, B. A. entertained the C. A. five at Barton and lost by a score of 24 to 21 in a fast played game. The first half ended 20 to 12 in Barton's favor with Craftsbury steadily gaining after B. A. jumped off with a flying start. The second half was 14 to 12 in favor of Barton, showing how evenly balanced the teams were. For Craftsbury Moody and Griggs again were fast. For Barton Carter was the individual star ringing eight baskets and two fouls.

Lineup and baskets: Craftsbury Carter 8 Moody 4 Dutton 1 Griggs 3 Berry 2 Clifford 0

FARM BUREAU MEETINGS

Greensboro, Brownington and Glover on Schedule for 27th, 28th, and 29th.

The time has come more than ever before when farming must be conducted as a business. Yes, in fact, the best of business methods must be adopted in the coming year and the years to follow, if the farmer is to realize a profit for his year's work. No longer can the farmer guess that he is getting ahead, he must absolutely know, or the first thing he knows his property will be in the hands of the profiteer, the middleman or other parasitic human forms, who continually hover over the farmer's shop, his fertile fields and his bank account.

Conditions confronting the farmer during the coming season demand your most serious consideration, and will you pause for a few hours and consider these important points at the Farm Bureau meeting on Thursday, January 27th, at the Grange hall, Greensboro.

The program both forenoon and afternoon for men and women. Miss Potter, home economics specialist, will work with the ladies, and Mr. Rasmussen, farm management specialist and the county agent will work with the men. Dinner will be enjoyed by all during the noon hour.

Be sure and bring your year's account book, and come prepared to start a new one.

The day's program is as follows: 10.00 a. m., (a) "Business in the Home," "Value and Simple Method of Keeping Household Accounts and Making Budgets," Miss Potter. (b) "Business on the Farm," "The Value of Keeping Farm Accounts and How to Know Your Business," Mr. Rasmussen. (c) "Summarizing Old Account Books and Starting of New Ones," Mr. Rasmussen, and county agent.

Noon—Dinner at hall. At 1.30 o'clock p. m. (a) Reports of last year's work by project leader. (b) Discussion and adoption of program for next year. (c) "Home Equipment for Saving Time, Labor and Labor," Miss Potter. (d) "Profit for 1921," county agent. (e) "Are You Satisfied with Your Business?" Mr. Rasmussen.

The same program will take place in Brownington Friday, January 28, and in Glover Saturday, January 29.

upper High street one day last week. Very little damage was done.

Following a balmy Saturday and Sunday accompanied by snow flurries, were two very severe days on Monday and Tuesday. From Sunday night until Wednesday the thermometer registered zero or below most of the time and the wind was severe. As much as the snow fall is light and automobiles are seen upon the streets every day.

On Wednesday evening, February 9th, there will be a benefit concert under the auspices of the Red Cross, at Seaver's Opera Hall. This will consist of songs, readings, and instrumental music. The proceeds will be used for a worthy cause of interest to all Barton citizens. Don't fail to hold this date open and watch for more complete notice next week.

Twelve of the friends of Miss Evaline McDonald met at the home of Miss Eva Baxter last Wednesday evening where Miss McDonald was given a variety shower. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and cocoa were daintily served, after which many useful and beautiful gifts were presented. The evening was spent with games and a general good time.

At the last regular meeting of Crystal Lake Camp No. 11088, M. W. of A. the following officers for the year 1921 were installed: Consul, A. R. Wakeman; advisor, E. S. Metcalf; banker, F. S. Whitaker; clerk, A. E. Berry; escort, A. A. Larabee; watchman, J. C. Ladeau; sentry, Herbert Lahue; physician, E. R. Hastings; trustee for three years, C. E. Hibbard. Don't forget the regular meeting of the camp this week Friday, January 28. It is hoped there will be a good attendance.

Hotel Barton was the scene of a very enjoyable occasion on Tuesday evening when the stockholders of the Barton Hotel corporation, with their ladies assembled for the annual meeting. A splendid chicken supper was served, after which the following elections were made for the ensuing year: Clerk, C. S. Webster; directors, F. W. Cutting, C. S. Webster, F. D. Pierce, C. H. Willard, G. L. Bartlett. The directors elected the following officers: F. W. Cutting, president; F. D. Pierce, vice president; C. S. Webster, treasurer.

A picture of Nedelka Simeonova, a Bulgarian violinist of note, who has successfully toured much of Europe, appears in the Boston Herald of Sunday, as recently in New York. She has come to America to play as soloist in the Boston Symphony orchestra. She will be remembered in Barton as a 12-year-old girl who played before several audiences here on her first visit to America seven years ago with her father, who was a friend of Doncho Atanasoff, then a resident here. It is hoped she may visit Barton again.

About 75 young people were present at the "twisted" C. E. social at the vestry of the Congregational church next Sunday morning.

The annual meeting of the Lola Sargent Mission circle will be held with Mrs. Glenn Anderson February 1.

Next Sunday evening there will be a praise service at 7.30 at which time the pastor will speak on "Disarmament."

Corporation Income Tax Expert (for corporations only), I. C. Ellis will be at Newport March 4, 5, and 7, and at St. Johnsbury February 25, 26 and 28th, and March 1 and 2.

Orleans County Farmers Buy Better Sires

A total of 58 registered bulls of high quality placed at the head of Orleans County herds during the past year gives an indication of what can be accomplished in the way of the development of better dairying through organized community effort. These results were secured through the efforts of local committeemen of the Orleans County Farm Bureau under the leadership of the county agent and Carl W. Bean of Glover, chairman of the County Dairy committee.

Reports received by John A. Hitchcock, specialist in dairying of the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of Vermont, show that in practically every case these pure bred animals have been introduced of farms where hitherto nothing but scrub stock has been bred. In the few instances where this is not the case a first class registered sire has replaced one of inferior breeding.

It is difficult to estimate the tremendous benefit which will be received by these farmers who have taken such a decided forward step in their dairying operations, and by the dairy industry of the region as a whole. It can be said, however, that the introduction of these valuable breeding animals and the campaign of education through which they were placed mean increased efficiency and increased profit in the farming operations of the men concerned. The foundation of profitable dairying is profitable cows and the Orleans County Farm Bureau by getting down to fundamentals, is building for the future on a firm foundation.

Gentlemen's Night of Women's Clubs

Gentlemen's night will be informally observed by the ladies of the Afternoon Study Club and the Woman's Literary Club at Hotel Barton Tuesday evening, February 1, at 8 o'clock. Hon. Franklin D. Hale will be present as speaker of the evening. Mr. Hale, who is a Vermont, has been U. S. Consul to Cuba, Canada, Trinidad and was in the consulate service in England during the late war. Music will be furnished by Schubert's orchestra and refreshments will be served.

Woman's "Wall" by Carolyn Wells, and "Christine Guest" from "The Greatest Thrill I Ever Had," Irving Cobb, was read by Mrs. Ida Cutler; Mrs. Mae Batchelder read a chapter from "The Young Visitors," by Daisy Ashford. The meeting was concluded by the reading of several funny anecdotes by Mrs. Mabel Turner.

ORLEANS COUNTY AGRICULTURALLY

Ranks Among the First and Best in State According to New Census.

Agriculturally, Orleans County ranks among the first three or four counties of Vermont, and in some items stands at the very top.

This paper has taken much pains to work out the following table from a recently issued report on Vermont agriculture, given by counties, and believes it will prove interesting to its readers as showing the high rank Orleans county takes.

In connection with this article it may be interesting to read editorial comment upon this return found in this issue:

Number of farms in state, 29,975. A farm is classified as anyone operating over three acres of land, but there are less than 200 farms of 20 acres or less in Orleans county. First four counties rank as follows:

	1910	1920
Windsor county,	3268	2743
Rutland,	2649	2865

Average value of farms including all property for state, $7,691. Excluding Grand Isle county, where (Continued on Page Six).

Farm Account Books at Farm Bureau Office

By studying your own record and comparing it with the records of successful farms, you can see where your farm is weak and take measures to strengthen it.

Out of 130 Vermont farmers who kept farm account books last year, two of them lost between $200 and $300 each; 29 made about $282 each; 31 made about $762 each; while only 13 made as high as $2400 each. Before keeping records of their farm business, these farmers did not know how they stood with regard to their neighbors. Now they are in a position to study their farm business carefully; they know what it is that is holding down their income and how to plug up the leak.

Of course you want to increase your income if you can. Every farmer wants to make more money. One of the easiest ways is to keep a farm account book, study your farm business and locate the leaks. A simple farm account book will be supplied you at a cost by your county agent. Get one at once. It is free. It is 1921. It will be one of the best paying propositions you ever started. Both your county agent and Mr. M. P. Rasmussen, Farm Management specialist of the Agricultural Extension Service at Burlington will be glad to help you get started. At the end of the year, you will be assisted in summarizing your book and shown how to study it. Don't delay. Get your book now, take your inventory while you are not too busy, and find out where you really stand and why.

Several from here attended the donation at South Albany last Friday night.

Gordon Baker has finished work at the mill and is now working for Joe Dewing.

The play given at the hall Tuesday evening by the Glover ladies was well attended and enjoyed by all.

There will be an all-day Farm Bureau meeting at the hall Saturday of this week. County Agent Abell and Mr. Rasmussen, farm management specialist from Burlington, will meet the men, while Miss Lillian Potter of the extension service staff, will give a demonstration on food for the women. Anyone wishing assistance in starting or summarizing his account books should plan to see Mr. Rasmussen as he is anxious to help as far as possible. Club Agent Bacon will be present to meet the club boys and girls and plan for the club work. The women are requested to furnish for the dinner and everyone is invited to help make it a real community meeting of the family Farm Bureau.

BROWNINGTON

Miss Hattie Dutton is stopping a few days in town.

Miss Florence Smith spent the week-end in Evansville.

Carbelle Powers from Magog visited his sister, Mrs. Adeline Church, last week.

E. S. Kelley will attend the annual N. E. M. P. A. association in Boston this week.

Clarence Barry and Harold Green are sick with hard colds and not able to attend school.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blake were in Irasburg last Friday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wells.

Mrs. Addie Wiggins has so far recovered from her recent illness as to be able to attend church.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wells and a friend, Miss Elsie Huntington of Barton visited at Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blake's last week.

The Legislature.

The Vermont legislature is making progress slowly. Last week a number of bills were introduced into both house and Senate, giving work to the committees, though none of the most important bills have yet made their appearance.

The much-talked-of measure to appropriate $250,000 a year for the next two years for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis has appeared in the House as a committee bill from the agricultural committee but on motion of Mr. Luce of Pomfret, the chairman of this committee, the measure was recommitted to the committee, in order that a further conference concerning it might be had with the appropriation committee.

The first bill introduced by a member of the Orleans County delegation made its appearance in the House last week, being H. bill No. 10, introduced by Mr. Lord of Morgan and relates to fishing in Seymour lake. A second bill from the Orleans County delegation was introduced by Mr. Stone of Montpelier, and was referred to the judiciary committee. The bill establishes a new procedure for the hearing and determination of small claims. In case of claims in the nature of contract for not more than $35 a majority of the judges of the municipal or city court shall make uniform rules for a simple, informal and inexpensive procedure. Certain requisites are included.

On Monday afternoon Representative Gardner of Newport city introduced a bill amending section 53 of the general laws, relating to
